In the words of the Executive Director :

I feel a sense of satisfaction this morning at the idea of supporting young people, mostly girls and women, to acquire professional knowledge that can keep them busy and thus keep them away from possible deviant trajectories.

This activity, initiated by the Communal Council of Civil Society (CCSC) of Commune III in partnership with the Maison de la femme rive gauche, is the result of various spaces for dialogue led by the Malian Institute for Research Action for Peace (IMRAP) and its partners INTERPEACE and the CANADIAN embassy on the implementation of community policing in the District of Bamako.

The activity is very important in that it will clarify the roles and responsibilities of all the key actors in the implementation of community policing and provide the beginning of a solution to the growing insecurity in Commune III.

I would like to take this opportunity to reiterate my thanks to all our partners who, directly or indirectly, have spared no effort in the implementation of actions to strengthen confidence and social cohesion between the civilian population and the defence and security forces throughout the national territory.

of Commune III of the District of Bamako, the Malian Institute for Research Action for Peace (IMRAP) in partnership with INTERPEACE, is launching the training project "to fight against growing insecurity, youth unemployment through their occupations through income-generating activities"

With a provisional budget of more than 3,665,500 CFA francs, (three million six hundred and sixty-five thousand five hundred CFA francs), More than: One hundred (100) young people from Commune III, including five (05) young people per district, will be trained, young people ( in school, out of school and out of school) from Commune III of the District of Bamako to facilitate their socio-economic and professional integration in order to keep them busy and limit abuses, consequently reduce insecurity, juvenile delinquency and banditry within the commune and beyond.
